County attorney says:

Poor jail conditions spur $3 million in suits

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County is facing $3 million in lawsuits apparently stemming from poor conditions at the County Jail in Bay St. Louis.

Meanwhile, a Bay St. Louis architect is preparing a feasibility study, cost estimate and preliminary plans for construction of a criminal justice facility to replace the aging and outdated jail.

The County Board of Supervisors unanimously agreed Monday in a resolution to enter into a $10,000 agreement with Fred Wagner to perform the three-part analysis.

The board action was prompted by a recommendation from Terry Feeney of Bay St. Louis, a member and representative of the Hancock Jail Advisory Committee, to contract with the architect.

Wagner said the study would be completed in three months and include interviews with local city police chiefs, Sheriff Ronald Peterson, county supervisors, judges and any officials concerned with jail operations to determine countywide needs.

Regarding the lawsuits, Walter Gex, county attorney, Tuesday said three Hancock inmates had a total of six suits filed recently in Federal District Court in Biloxi based on general conditions of confinement.

The supervisors Monday authorized Gex to defend the county in the suits against Peterson, County Investigators Delbert Seay and Alvin Ladner, and Jailer R.D. Ladner, all of the sheriff's department.

When asked if the suits resulted from poor conditions at the jail, Gex replied, "Yes."

Gex said Jimmy Sullivan, 26, is plaintiff in four of the suits asking $500,000 from each of the sheriff's department four.

Peterson Tuesday said Sullivan is awaiting trial after a recent Hancock Grand Jury indictment charged he received stolen property and possessed a controlled substance.

The sheriff added Sullivan was recently apprehended in Portland, Ore., after failing to appear for a Circuit Court hearing in January.

Gex said Sullivan in each suit is seeking $250,000 in "nominal" and $250,000 in "punitive" damages.

Sullivan is asking for gymnasium facilities for prisoners, the attorney revealed.

Alvin DeGraw, 33, is plaintiff in a $500,000 suit against Peterson, Gex said.

The sheriff reported DeGraw is appealing a January Circuit Court jury conviction in which he was found guilty of burglarizing a dwelling and sentenced to seven years in Parchman State Penitentiary.

He noted in an appeal situation a prisoner can not be sent to the penitentiary unless he or she signs a waiver document.

DeGraw has not signed a waiver, Peterson said.

Two businesses seeking Waveland zoning changes

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Developers of an apartment complex and owners of a trucking company are seeking zoning changes for Waveland business ventures.

Mayor John Longo recommended representatives of both ventures appear at an April 26 City Planning and Zoning Commission meeting to discuss the classification changes.

Representatives of Sentury Subdivision, an apartment complex near the intersection of US-90 and Waveland Avenue, appeared at a Tuesday night

City Board of Aldermen meeting to object to a recent commission decision.

In the commission's meeting minutes read by Barbara Rappold, city clerk and an alderman, the group denied Sentury's zoning change request in which four acres adjacent to the development would be rezoned from R-3 (residential) to C-3 (commercial).

Delmar Wilcox, who is involved in the project, noted the change will allow Sentury to build a parking and mini-storage warehouse area so tenants can store excess furniture, boats and campers.

Before the developers spoke with the aldermen, the city leaders accepted the commission's minutes which included the denial.

But in an unusual move, after hearing arguments from several Sentury representatives, the board later voted to send the recommended denial back to the commission for reconsideration.

Lucien Gex, city attorney, recommended the board take the denial under advisement because based on city ordinances the developers could not reaply for the change for at least six months if the aldermen accepted the commission's action.

Maxwell Pace, one of the developers, noted Gex recommended they seek the zoning change because the city's definition of an R-3 area does not include mini-storage warehouses.

"We felt since there was no public opposition at the commission hearing that our request would be approved," Pace stated.

Gerald Gex, a Bay St. Louis attorney representing Sentury, said Buddy Haverly was the only commission member voicing strong opposition to the change.

Bullets strike Shoreline school bus

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A school bus delivering students in Shoreline Park was apparently fired upon by a pellet or 22-caliber rifle on Tuesday, according to Alvin Ladner, Hancock County investigator.

Ladner said, "The sheriff's office received a telephone call from Ms. Rose Lewis, bus driver for North Bay Elementary, reporting bullets had struck her bus's windshield."

"A check of the bus revealed three apparent cracks in the windshield, believed to have been caused by an air rifle or 22-caliber rifle," Ladner added. Suspects have been questioned on the incident and an investigation is continuing, Ladner reported.

"The bus was traveling on a street off Central Avenue when something struck the windshield in front of Ms. Lewis. This is a serious matter and we urge anyone with information to please call the sheriff's office at 467-5101," Ladner urged.

As an added precaution, a sheriff's patrol car followed the bus on its route Wednesday.

Those in addition to Ladner responding to the call included Hancock Deputy Willie Lee; Donald Caldwell, school transportation officer; and Mike Cave, assistant principal at North Bay Elementary.

Council seeks AG opinion to avoid conflict of interest

By JUNE M. HEYDT

The Bay St. Louis City Council is seeking a state attorney general's opinion on a possible conflict of interest concerning the city's housing rehabilitation assistance program.

Parents of Council President Harry Farve appear on the city's list of eligible applicants.

City Attorney Joseph Gex said at Tuesday's council meeting the Attorney General's office is willing to give a written opinion stating that there is no conflict of interest since the family in question meets the necessary criteria to allow rehabilitation of the structure.

Ma. Ruth Harris, staff attorney for the Governor's Office of Planning and Policy, in a letter to Ron Murray Consultants suggested that before the Farves enter into an agreement with the contractor that a final ruling should be obtained from the Attorney General.

Harris said an important consideration in the issue is whether Mr. and Mrs. Farve had submitted the application for housing assistance before the City Council had approved its contract with the state.

The Farves submitted their application August 1, 1982 and the contract between the city and the state was executed on Dec. 4, 1982.

Council voted to accept a letter into the minutes from Ron Murray Consultants stating that there is no conflict of interest. Further action on the application will be delayed pending receipt of the Attorney General's opinion.

In other business, Gex recommended acceptance of a bid from Merchants Bank and Trust Company of nine percent on a loan of $18,000 for purchase of a tractor and service truck by Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District contingent on school board approval.

Mayor Larry Bennett nominated Reginald Robinson to fill the school board post formerly held by Maurice Singleton whose term expired March 5. Bennett stated Robinson has been a former president and member of the Valerie C. Jones School Board.

Councilman Stephen Seaton added he feels Robinson is an excellent choice.

The council approved the nomination. Housing rehabilitation bids ranging from $4,000 to $11,000 were opened and taken under advisement.

William Johnson, director of utilities, recommended new Main Street lights should be no less than 30 feet above traffic to avoid vision problems.

Johnson told the council cost of fixtures would be $1,200 plus poles.

Other costs for wiring, typing points, boxes and automated controls are estimated between $2,800 and $3,000.

Councilman Jim Thrifflay asked that the council authorize Fred Wagner, architect, to choose the type and style of the light poles to be installed.

Artificial larynx improved by Bell

South Central Bell now offers an updated version of its electronic artificial larynx, which makes it possible for persons who have lost their voices through paralysis or surgical removal of their vocal cords to use the telephone.

And until March 1, 1984, owners of earlier 5A and 5B models of the unit can get a $30 trade-in allowance when they purchase the new model, the 5C. The unit can be purchased through South Central Bell's Telecommunications Center.

for Disabled Customers. The 5C is a redesign of the 5A and 5B models which makes the unit more economical for customers to purchase and use.

"The new model uses solid-state parts and runs on one nine-volt battery," said Don Roberts, district manager, South Central Bell. "The battery is less costly and easier to find than the mercury cells used in earlier models. And instead of the variable pitch control, the 5C has a simple adjustment within the unit for changing the pitch." Roberts explained that the artificial larynx produces substitute vibrations for the natural vibrations of the human voice. The user places the larynx on the throat and uses the teeth, palate, tongue and lips in the usual manner to produce speech.

The 5C carries a one-year warranty for the original purchaser. During that warranty period, Western Electric, maker of the device, will repair or replace the unit at no charge to the original purchaser.

A warranty date has also been established for the earlier models. All 5A and 5B units, regardless of when purchased, have a one-year warranty as of March 1, 1983.

After the warranty expires on March 1, 1984, customers will have to pay for repairs. For more information on the artificial larynx, call the Telecommunications Center at 1-800-544-8000. Customers who use a telecommunications device for the deaf or a teleprinter can call toll-free 1-800-561-5325.

Evert named award winner

The United States Achievement Academy reports that Robin Melissa Evert of Leetown has been named a 1983 United States National Award winner in business education.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Ms. Evert, who attends Hancock North Central High School was nominated for this National Award by Mrs. Cherie Anderson, a business education teacher at the school.

The students biography will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Ms. Evert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl F. Evert of Lancaster, CA. Her grandparents are Mrs. Ilda M. Evert of Wichita Falls, Texas and Mrs. Jessie Lee of Leetown.

New murder trial set for former officer

A new trial is scheduled in July for a former Bay St. Louis police officer charged with murder.

Place One Circuit Court Judge James Thomas Tuesday in Bay St. Louis set the new trial of Henry P. Jordan for July 11.

Thomas declared a mistrial as requested by Jordan's attorney, Boyce Holleman of Gulfport.

Holleman told the judge the defense had not received some evidence from the district attorney's office.

Jordan is accused of shooting to death

Rev. Robert Hargett in his construction company office on US-90 in Waveland on Nov. 12, 1981.

He faces an additional charge of injuring his wife, Florence Jordan, who was with Hargett when Jordan entered the office.

A six-man, six-woman jury and two alternate jurors, selected Monday and sequestered in a Waveland hotel, reported to court early Tuesday only to wait while attorneys conferred with Thomas in chambers for almost two hours.

When Thomas opened court, the jury was dismissed and informed that a motion for a mistrial, submitted by Holleman, had been sustained.

The state charges that Jordan committed "a true killing of revenge... of a man running with his wife." Thomas told the jurors before their dismissal. "The defense claims that he went where his car was," at Hargett's business, was assaulted and he killed in self defense.

Also set for July 11 are the trials of Mayor Larry J. Bennett of Bay St. Louis and Donn Murray of that city. Bennett is scheduled to stand trial on charges that he used labor and materials from a city street project for work on his home.

Thomas set the trial date Monday morning for Bennett, who was indicted in January on charges of fraud and conspiracy to commit fraud.

The mayor pleaded innocent to the charges.

Murray, an employee of Broadway and Seal Engineers who serves as inspector for city projects, is accused of providing a carpenter to work on Bennett's home and making the services and materials appear to be authorized expenditures for street work.

Murray also pleaded innocent in February and his trial was set then for April 11.

"Mr. Murray's trial has been postponed to July 11 at the request of the co-defendant's attorney and the district attorney," Murray's attorney, Aaron Adams, said Tuesday. "They will determine whether they prefer to try Bennett before or after Murray."

Adams said he plans to file several motions that will be heard in Circuit Court in Gulfport in May, between Hancock County court terms.

Bennett remained silent during the court proceedings.

Thomas said the mayor, who is serving his second term, waived arraignment, a hearing in which he formally responds to the charges and enters a plea.

The judge said, however, that Bennett is pleading innocent to the charges.

Thomas said Bennett will be tried on each charge separately.

The attorneys in the case will advise the court by May 1 on which case will be tried first.

Thomas agreed to hear pretrial motions during this term of court upon the request of Bennett's attorney, Joe Sam Owen of Gulfport.

Owen did not specify what motions he will file.

Bennett remains free on a $3,000 property bond, the same amount that was set after his arrest in late January.

He originally was scheduled for arraignment on Feb. 2, but the hearing was delayed after Bennett told the judge that he had yet to hire an attorney.

Hancock teacher pay to increase in Fall

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Teachers of the Hancock County School District will receive at least $1,000 more annually based on a 1983-84 salary scale approved by the County School Board Monday night.

The board also re-employed certified personnel (primarily teachers) for the upcoming school year as recommended by district principals and Terrell Randolph, county superintendent of education.

James Pair, assistant superintendent, Tuesday noted starting teacher salaries are $1,000 more than the present pay.

Starting salaries for the 1983-84 year include $12,275 annually for a teacher with a bachelor's degree (an A teaching certificate); $13,175 for a teacher with a master's degree (AA certification); and $14,075 for a teacher studying for a doctoral degree (AAA certification).

A new pay scale for a teacher with a doctoral degree (AAAA certification) is added in which a starting salary of $14,975 is listed.

Included in the salaries are annual pay supplements offered by the district in addition to salary funded by the state.

Beginning with A to AAAA certifications those supplements are $800; $900; $1,000; and $1,100 respectively.

Teachers with a A certificate will receive $275 more annually for each year of instructional experience up to 14 years.

Other incremental increases include AA certificates at $300 for each year up to 16 years, AAA certificates at $325 for each year up to 17 years, and AAAA certificates at $350 for each year up to 17 years.

Regarding the re-employment recommendations, Randolph said he did not know if all teachers wishing to return next year were included in the lists provided by principals.

Randolph noted a teacher not recommended for re-employment is entitled to a hearing if he or she requests one.

In another employment matter, the superintendent revealed he did not recommend re-employing Harlin Hill, federal and state programs coordinator.

Hill's attorney, Yvonne Sills, appeared at the meeting to request a termination hearing.

The board set the hearing at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the meeting room in the Dan M. Russell Sr. Memorial Youth Court Center in Bay St. Louis.

Property, and Assessment Evaluator II schools.

Murtagh said, "In announcing my candidacy for re-election to the office of Assessor-Tax Collector, I wish to thank you for the privilege of serving you during the past years."

"The office of assessor-tax collector is a complex and demanding job. The person who serves in that capacity needs the special knowledge that comes only with experience and training."

"Through the years I have helped establish the administrative procedures which are recognized throughout the State for efficiency and fairness."

"I will always be conscious of the fact that serving you is a privilege granted by the people of Hancock County. In this regard I earnestly request that you allow me to again serve the citizens as their tax assessor-tax collector."

We have observed many folks parking in handicapped areas in shopping center parking lots.

A recent letter from one of our subscribers also caused the wife of a handicapped person to call in support of the letter.

We have mentioned this item numerous times before in this column, but, some folks never seem to comprehend.

Special areas are designated for handicapped parking and are usually wider in order for a person using wheel chairs to get in and out of their vehicles.

We would like to see some patrolmen ticket a few vehicles which are parked in these restricted areas, maybe it would wake them up.

We have noted baseball practice going on at several ball parks, so this means for motorists to be extremely careful when they see children at these parks.

We know from experience that children forget a little about proper crossing of streets when they are involved with baseball.

Signs are posted near the ball fields, so please drive carefully, remember, we were their age at one time.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong.
Trent Lott

WHY IT'S TOUGH TO CUT THE BUDGET

With two major items of business, the jobs bill and the social security package, approved by Congress already this year, it is time to face some upcoming issues.

In my judgment, most of these items will center around the individual appropriations bills which really make up the federal budget. Without a doubt, there will be a great deal of debate on the House floor about how to fund the government for fiscal year 1984.

In the midst of the budget debate, I noticed the other day a few jolting facts compiled by the Office of Management and Budget, and they help to explain why it is so difficult to trim federal spending.

It seems that nearly every American either has a share of federal spending, or has a close relative who does. An estimated 169 million people collect funds or some sort from the federal government, and that is approximately 77 percent of the American population.

The largest portion of the 169 million people receive social security benefits (36.4 million people), followed by nearly 30 million people under the medicare program, 23 million children in school lunch programs and 22.6 million medical beneficiaries.

Food stamp recipients number approximately 21.5 million people and almost 11 million are covered by the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program. Veterans benefits go to about 4.4 million people, government workers and present military personnel number 5 million, and civil service and military retirees amount to 3 million people.

Other people fall under a variety of programs, including railroad retirement, disabled coal miners, farm price supports, college student loans, small business loans, subsidized housing and unemployment compensation.

In all, according to the Office of Management and Budget, federal outlays total more than $3,500 for every American and federal spending as a share of gross national product may rise to 24 percent next year.

The competing interests in our country, each with their own claims on a piece of the federal spending pie, make it exceptionally difficult to cut spending in one area without being accused of sacrificing human needs. This has led to the argument over military spending at the expense of social programs.

In many areas, we simply must continue to provide care and benefits to which recipients are entitled. At the same time, as the spending bills come up in Congress, we must be watchful for those areas which can be trimmed.

BE A GOOD CITIZEN:

People tend to litter where litter has already accumulated. Throwing trash from an automobile—be it a glass bottle, a metal container, or paper products—is like saying to someone else: throw yours, it's alright.

Senator
Cochran
reports

FARM CREDIT PROBLEM

U.S. Senator Thad Cochran says changes must be made in farm credit programs to better meet the needs of American farmers.

"The magnitude of the farm credit problem," Senator Cochran said before a Senate Agriculture subcommittee hearing, "can be summarized by reviewing the current debt structure of agriculture."

He noted that the debt load of American farmers has climbed from less than $55 billion in 1971 to over $200 billion by 1982, yet net farm income has dropped from nearly $25 billion in 1975 to only $19 billion last year.

"Inability to get sufficient agricultural credit is creating a major problem in the farm community of my state," Senator Cochran stated. "Unless action is taken on the agricultural credit legislation pending before the Senate, many farmers in my state may not be around next year to enjoy the benefits of higher prices associated with the acreage reduction and market expansion programs currently in place."

Senator Cochran told the panel, "What we need now is to change the credit programs operated by the Farmers Home Administration to better reflect the needs of individual farmers."

He said Farmers Home should adjust its programs to provide for leniency during the transition period from low farm prices to higher prices, provide for a repayment structure on rescheduled loans which recognizes a farmer's cash flow needs, and to give farmers the benefit of lower interest rates.

He urged swift Senate action on legislation he is sponsoring, S. 24. "Time is of the essence. The planting season is already underway in my state and many other areas of the country."

Biblical challenge offered to New York congressman's statements on gay rights

April 4, 1983

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

I can't imagine that you put your sanction on the printing of the article about the homosexual community.

I can't get use to the term gay with a crowd that is usually anything but.

The article starts off with a dark print editor's note, implying that you selected and placed said article.

If that was done, as I understand, without your knowledge and I was the editor (and responsible for everything that went through the presses) I'd have that employee explaining where his new found authority came from. Granted I am not the editor so we will leave that up to you.

Regarding the article more specifically, I strongly challenge and disagree with some of Jaffa's statements in light of what God's Holy Word, the scriptures, say.

As far as an authoritative source I'll stand on His Word and let them go right ahead with a life style that is in total contradiction to the most authoritative source mankind has ever known.

Article's fourth column and I quote: "Rather, homosexuality is a positive good in the natural order."

Reply: One of God's first commands to man was that he "leave his father and mother and cleave unto his wife" (Genesis 2:24).

Indeed, we are told that in marriage the male and female "shall be one flesh" and they are to be "fruitful and multiply." (Genesis 1:28)

This obviously could never be fulfilled in an unnatural homosexual relationship. This type behavior is contrary to God's creative plan and therefore is totally unnatural.

Article's fifth column: "Children should be instructed early and often on homosexuality because it is good to be lesbian or gay."

Reply: Jude 1:8 refers to the inhabitants of Sodom as "filthy dreamers" who "defile the flesh."

Leviticus 18:22 says "thou shalt not lie with mankind, as with womankind, it is an abomination."

And as you well know Mr. Editor, an abomination; according to the World Book Dictionary, is anything that arouses strong disgust, a revolting thing, a shamefully wicked action, etc.

Is this to what we are trying to attach the label—Natural?

Come on now, let's not kid each other. The question here is not rights but, whether individuals can take what God says is totally unnatural and make it a normal righteous act.

I do not think you can but it's not really what you and I think but what the Bible says is right and wrong.

If you disagree with that talk to Him, He said it—I didn't.

God designed the family unit, husband and wife and the offspring of that union, I can't find anywhere where He ever changed that.

Our great country (and it's still the greatest in spite of its faults) still has that as one of its basic foundations stones.

Let's keep it that way for righteousness sake.

Sincerely,
James C. McDonald

Shoreline resident appeals for street paving extension

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Dear Sir:

My late husband and I acquired property in Shoreline Park fronting Texas Street in 1975. Almost immediately thereafter, we made extensive improvements to the lot, installed a trailer and established permanent domicile.

It was my husband's dream to retire there, but unfortunately he passed away before that dream could become a reality.

It is obvious that I am no newcomer to Mississippi and Shoreline Park in particular; and having paid our fair share of ad valorem and sales taxes, not to forget school taxes, for which I have no regret, even though my children are grown and live elsewhere.

I feel that numerous, legitimate complaints to our Beat Supervisor Jimmy Travlica to continue with the hard surfacing of Texas Street from its intersection with Hawaii Street have been deliberately ignored.

This area is subject to flooding. The present gravel road becomes impassable and presents a peril to our lives and properties.

Two children who attend public schools live at the very end of Texas Street and the school bus will not use the road, compelling them to walk approximately one mile through muck and mud in inclement weather to catch the bus.

Our supervisor states that he has adequate funds to surface the road and admits that it would be cheaper to maintain it if it were surfaced.

However, in his opinion, this project has a "low priority."

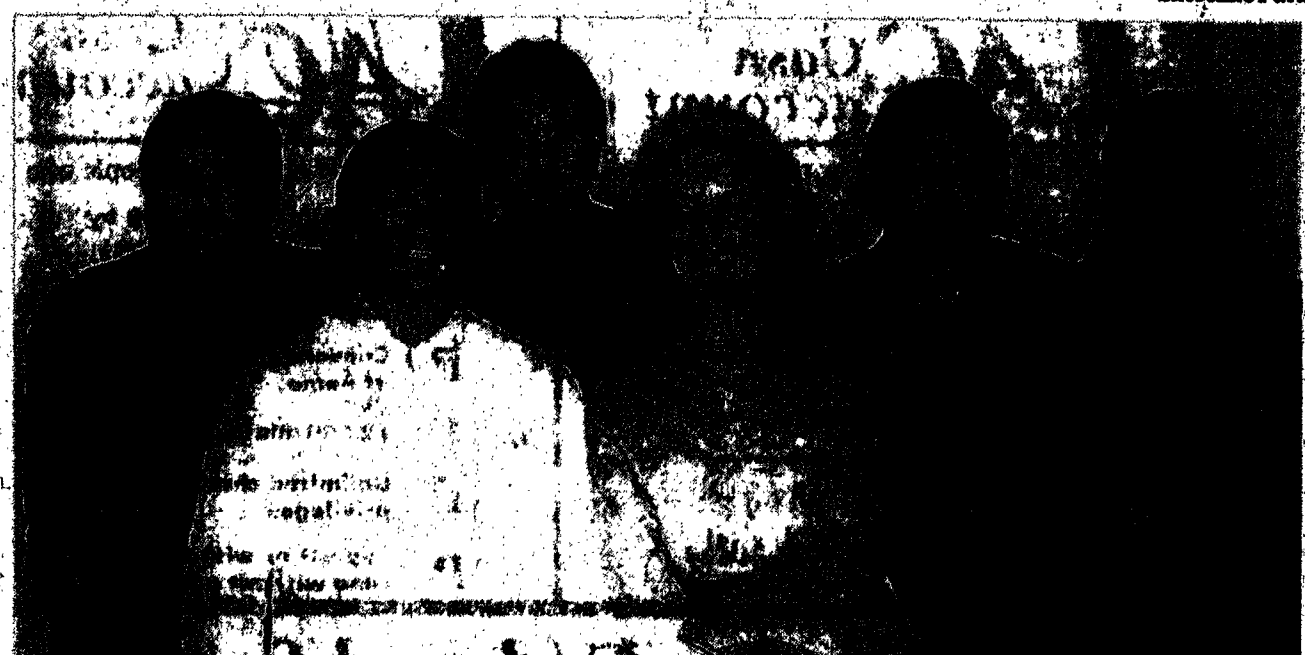

A petition has been signed by all except two property owners (they were unavailable) who disagree with Mr. Travlica for the reasons stated therein.

We ask Mr. Travlica—does this project have any priority at all?

After five years of requesting you, when will the work be done? We would appreciate your public response, hoping against hope that you will give us some responsible answer.

As citizens, taxpayers and registered voters, seemingly we are entitled to at least that much.

Dorothy K. Pardee

METV lists spring, summer schedules for children

Today, many of the children who learned their ABCs by watching "Sesame Street" on Mississippi ETV are teenagers about to enter college. They also may have watched "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" and, when they got a little older, "The Electric Company."

In more recent years, young people have been treated to another award winning series on public television, this one emphasizing science and technology: "3-2-1 Contact."

And, a daytime schedule full of instructional programs during the school months helps the schoolteacher in Mississippi classrooms.

The little brothers and sisters of these Mississippi young people who have grown up with ETV can still reap the benefits of public television programming.

Mississippi ETV announces what will be coming up this spring and summer on these and other children's public television programs:

Mister Rogers reassures young children about day care in five new "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" programs coming up this spring on Mississippi ETV. Fred Rogers' programs on day care can be seen on "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" at 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, April 25-29.

When parents work whether by necessity or by choice, day care often becomes a major part of the family routine, and some children find it difficult to understand why they are apart from their parents so much of the time. Many parents find it difficult, too.

During these special programs, Mister Rogers and his neighbors show children some reasons why people work. He explains that, even when parents are working, they are thinking of their children.

Jane Beckwith of Family Communications, producers of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood," reports that the new programs have not been produced yet, but she did reveal that King Friday XIII and Queen Sara-Saturday will go away briefly and leave Prince Tuesday with a babysitter for the first time.

Fran Kaufman of the Children's Television Workshop reports that it's too early to know what "Sesame Street's" new fall season will be like but that "3-2-1" will get three new hosts this year.

Also, the new "3-2-1 Contact" season will get consist of 50 new half-hour programs. Ms. Kaufman also says that "The Electric Company" begins its 13th consecutive season on public television this fall with repeat broadcasts of popular programs.

The new "3-2-1 Contact" programs—10 new weeks—will be available later this year. Designed to introduce eight- to 12-year-olds to science and technology, the programs will again be grouped by weekly themes (water, flight, sports, etc.).

The programs will continue to present material as "pre-science" in an effort to motivate positive attitudes towards the study of science, rather than convey a formal science curriculum. Emphasis on females and minority professionals as role models will continue in the new programs.

The three new stars will be Robin, played by Judy Leak; Kathy played by Kelly Pino; and Miguel, played by Frank Gomez.

"The Electric Company," which uses fun and humor to teach basic reading skills to young people in grades two through four, remains one of the most widely used educational television programs in the nation's schools, according to the Children's Television Workshop, its producer.

A recent survey showed that 2.4 million children see the show regularly in their classrooms. "The Electric Company" can be seen at 10 a.m., weekdays, and at 1:30 p.m., Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays on the Mississippi ETV Network.

And for those who think that public television's entertaining children's programming is just for children, think again. An A.C. Nielsen Company survey, measuring for the first time viewers over the age of five for "Sesame Street," discovered that, over the four-week period sampled, the cumulative number of adult viewers actually outnumbered that of children under six watching the show, although the younger viewers watched more frequently.

"Sesame Street" can be seen at 7 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., weekdays, and at 11:30 a.m., Wednesday.

For summer television viewing for Mississippi young people, Mississippi ETV will offer "Reading Rainbow" and "Summer Video."

"Reading Rainbow" is a television series hosted by LeVar Burton.

The aim of the series is to motivate children to read good literature. Mississippi libraries are cooperating with Mississippi ETV on "Summer Video," a joint project involving television programs and library activities.

Jackson State summer schedule changed

Jackson State University officials have announced that the University's summer schedule of classes will consist of one eight-week session for undergraduate and graduate students.

In previous years, two five-week summer sessions have been held at JSU for undergraduate students. There will be no change for the summer session for graduate students.

Dates for JSU's 1983 summer school are June 6-July 29 for undergraduate and graduate students. Registration will be held June 6 and classes will begin June 7. Summer commencement is scheduled for Saturday, July 30, in the Athletics and Assembly Center.

Dr. Estus Smith, vice president for Academic Affairs at Jackson State, said the new summer schedule will give students the opportunity to probe more into the substance of their courses. More time will also be allowed for class assignments.

In special cases, JSU seniors enrolled in the summer session will be permitted to take some graduate courses to fulfill requirements for undergraduate degrees with permission from the dean of the Graduate School.

For more information on JSU's 1983 summer school, call the Office of Academic Affairs at 968-2244.

Gex reported DeGraw's $500,000 suit includes an order 'enjoining' the sheriff from harassing the prisoner, seeking a right to use tables to eat meals, demanding physical examinations for jail food service personnel and requiring 'a suitable diet.'

James Conley, 63, the first prisoner recently suing the sheriff, is asking $500,000 in damages from Peterson.

The sheriff said although Conley is appealing an armed robbery conviction by a January Circuit Court jury which imposed an 11-year sentence, he recently signed a waiver asking transfer to Parchman.

Gex said in the lawsuit documents Conley also enjoins the sheriff and department personnel from harassing him, orders he be given proper medication and charges his medication was not dispensed by qualified individuals.

The attorney said the charges will be answered with 'basic general denials,' but some of the demands might be 'partially' met by the county.

Wagner said he does not utilize the term jail for the subject of his analysis because it 'implies just a collection of cells' which is what is available now.

"The present jail is totally inadequate to meet the legal and security requirements of today's world," he stated.

In verbal dissection of the term criminal justice facility, Wagner explained the word criminal 'deals with people who have violated the rules of society' and justice symbolizes 'those who have to be dealt with by the community and proven guilty.'

He said the design of a new facility would have to 'accommodate the community's attitudes.'

Wagner said the facility might include a new sheriff's department office since the county agency operates the present jail.

But he ruled out the possibility of constructing a new County Courthouse due to the high cost.

"We want to concentrate on security in the community, safety of personnel and justice for those incarcerated," Wagner added.

reportedly denied the request because Century presented no plans for the parking and storage area.

Charles Dickson, commission president, also attended meeting and confirmed Longo's report.

Rappold objected to the board not accepting the commission recommendation and stated, "One thing Buddy (Haverty) said is all the zoning change requests should have been taken under consideration at one time. They (the commission) felt a project of this type should have foresight."

Wilcox stated, "To these fellas (the developers) this project means life or death to this apartment complex."

He said the construction of 68 more Century apartments 'hangs in the 'balance' until the parking and warehouse area is approved.

He reported the area would be for the exclusive use of Century tenants.

Rappold said she feared if the area was rezoned that the parking and storage areas could be commercially rented to anyone.

Wilcox replied, "We're not going to allow anything that is detrimental to the area."

Regarding the other zoning matter, Mr. and Mrs. John Island, owners of Island's Trucking Service of Shoreline Park, reported they plan to lease property on Hwy. 603 just north of the Choctaw Shopping Center for their business.

But Audry Island said the area is commercially-zoned and based on Waveland regulations their business is classified as light industrial.

She reported the company sells landscaping materials including sand, gravel and treated timbers.

"We don't feel we are light industrial," Audry Island said.

Longo explained, "According to statute the stockpiling of goods of that nature is classified light industrial."

The woman reported they have moved equipment several times during winter to higher ground due to flooding at the relatively low Shoreline site and a new location is desperately needed.

Rappold said the property is owned by Paul Vegas of Bay St. Louis and he should make a zoning change request to the board.

Thrillley said Wagner is willing to do it free.

Council agreed to introduce a local and private bill into the legislature from John Harral of the Episcopal Services for the Aging, Inc., a non-profit organization seeking city development bonds.

Harral stated the request in no way obligates the city but is merely a mechanical means to go to local legislation to endorse a proposal to build and operate a retirement home primarily for middle income people.

The home would also have a nursing facility.

The bonds issued would be revenue bonds which would be the obligation of the non-profit organization and would be paid back by revenues generated by the operation of the retirement facility.

Also, these bonds would not count against the city's statutory limitations on issuing bonds of general obligation.

Also, Tuesday, Councilman Gary Eugene Taylor reported severe drainage problems in the Thomas Street area and moved that council advertise for bids based on specifications required.

Bennett suggested the specifications include the Spanish Acres subdivision and that bids be taken both separate and together.

The council approved a suggestion by Taylor to place a plaque in city hall listing veterans of the Vietnam conflict.

A motion was passed to authorize the county clerk to get together with the mayor to determine how much money they can get to hire college age ment to work during the summer months to help the city maintenance program.

These men would be paid as they worked.

The meeting was recessed at 6:30 p.m. Thursday for a public hearing on proposed changes in the city's HUD programs.

SOLO FLUTIST—Kenneth France, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter C. France of Waveland, will be guest speaker and performer at a 5:45 p.m. public music theory session at the Kathleen Asher Studio, US-90 West, Waveland. A University of Southern Mississippi music major, France will discuss creativity in music by composers and emotional influences by performers. Refreshments will be served following the free seminar.

Frierson announces for justice post

Horatio Frierson Jr., has announced his candidacy for Justice Court judge, Westside District of Hancock County.

HORATIO FRIERSON JR.

Under the new system for Justice Court judges that the legislature enacted recently, Hancock County will now have only two Justice Court judges.

"This will mean an increased workload on the judges of 2½ times that which they had to handle in the past," Frierson said.

"I have had the privilege of serving as Justice Court judge for the past 7½ years from District No. Two of Hancock County," he said.

"During my tenure in office, I have handled the Justice Court duties in numerous cases ranging from capital murder, rape, kidnapping, to traffic violations and many civil litigations involving sums of under $1,000 as provided by statute," the candidate continued.

"I believe the experience I have gained in these 7½ years will be of immeasurable benefit if I am elected to serve the next four years as Justice Court judge."

"During my past two terms I have always attempted to be fair and impartial in all matters before my court and have at all times conducted my court in a professional and dignified manner and will continue to do so if elected," Frierson added.

Comp test for teacher hopefuls slated April 9

All students planning to enter a professional teacher education program at one of the eight public universities in the state must take the COMP test on April 9, 1983.

This is the first official testing date for the administration of the College Outcome measures Program (COMP).

A policy passed in November, 1981, by the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning requires that all students entering teacher education programs in the fall of 1983 shall first have successfully completed the COMP.

Serious concern for a higher level of educational achievement led the Board to make this decision.

The COMP is a measure of a student's general education knowledge and that student's ability to speak and write effectively.

The COMP will help to guarantee that those individuals who seek teacher training in Mississippi public universities will be competent individuals.

Teachers have been required to take the National Teachers Examination (NTE) since 1971 when the Legislature mandated its requirement.

The cutoff score of 850 has been raised to 915 by the State Board of Education.

Teachers will be required to achieve the new scores beginning this spring.

The COMP test was developed by the American College Testing Service (ACT) and was selected by a cross-section committee of 60 individuals from throughout the state.

This committee heard presentations from ACT and the Education Testing Service before making the final selection.

The Board has conducted testing sessions during 1982 to assist in establishing norms on the COMP for Mississippi students. The result of that testing was considered at the board's meeting on February 17, 1983, and required standards were adopted.

All students desiring to enter professional teacher education programs beginning in the spring term of 1983 must have obtained a score of at least 170 on the Composite Examination of the College Outcome measures Program (COMP), a score of at least 17 on the Speaking area of the COMP, a score of at least 17 on the Writing area of the COMP, and a 2.25 grade point average overall on a 4.0 scale through the end of their sophomore year.

Students with an ACT assessment composite score of at least 18 or a 3.20 grade point average overall on a 4.0 scale through the first semester of the sophomore year may bypass the major portion of the COMP Composite Examination and take only the Speaking Writing areas.

The April 9 test will be administered on each of the eight university campuses as well as at Northeast Mississippi Junior College, Meridian Junior College, and Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College, Jefferson Davis campus.

The test lasts approximately 4½ hours and will consist of a general examination section as well as a speaking section and writing section. The cost for the test is approximately $25 per student.

Brochures describing the COMP exam and the process for applying to take the test have been distributed to all junior and senior campuses in the state.

THE PRYTANIA THEATRE

Ah yes, another excursion to the Prytania Theatre in New Orleans. And who could blame you? What with all the "Spring Break," "Spring Fever" movies dealing with teenage sex and drinking, the Prytania is a refuge from the mindless, feature-length sitcoms.

Greeted this time with a Hungarian film called "Time Stands Still" directed by Peter Gothar. Oddly enough, "Time Stands Still" turns out to be about teenage sex and drinking, the only difference is that it is handled in caring, compassionate tones.

It begins in grainy, newsreel footage that flickers images of rebels firing machine guns in desolate, bombed-out city streets. It fades to muted colors, seven years later, the beguiling characters saunter across the screen; the soundtrack is 1950's pop music, "Jailhouse Rock" and "You Are My Destiny."

The scenarios are rolling, surreal ventures into East European adolescence with misty avenues and diffused lights and odd camera angles. The epilogue of the film is shot from a distance, dissolving from character to character as we witness what has transpired in our melancholy absence.

There are no tumbling fist fights nor any swerving, careening car crashes here, "Time Stands Still" sneaks its way into your subconscious. There are beautiful performances cradled in Gothar's deliberate direction. And the stunning virtuosity with which Lajos Koltai displays with his camera will transport any viewer on aesthetic pathways of glory, as young rebels challenge an unseen authority in Hungary.

Later this month the Prytania Theatre will present "Eating Raoul" April 8-28, billed as the black comedy sleeper of the year. "Come Back to the 5 and Dime Jimmy Dean, Jimmy Dean" May 6-19 - Robert Altman makes his long-awaited comeback with this film.

In his first critical success since the contemporary classic, "Nashville," Altman reunites the cast members from his Broadway production including Sandy Dennis, Karen Black and Cher. This film won Best Picture at the Chicago Film Festival in 1982.

Other films include: "Moonlighting" May 27-June 9, Akira Kurosawa's masterpiece, "The Seven Samurai" June 10-16, and "Starstruck" July 15-28.

For more information about the Prytania Theatre call (504) 895-4519 or visit them at 5339 Prytania Street in New Orleans.

HBO

1. "Absence of Malice" directed by Sydney Pollack, stars Paul Newman and Sally Field. And although Newman won his fifth Oscar nomination for the man wrongly convicted through journalism justice, it is Wilford Brimley who all but steals the show in the final minutes of this fairly engrossing film.

2. Avoid "Conan the Barbarian" with Arnold Schwarzenegger as the overly-muscular heathen running roughshod over human carnage and butchered animals. James Earl Jones and Max Von Sydow are thoroughly wasted in this graphic adventure into gory pre-hysterical times.

3. And even though "An American Werewolf in London" is almost as gory, it handles the subject in a very light-hearted manner. The result is an engaging film, and one of the most different werewolf films you're liable to see.

4. Good ratings go to John Boorman's "Excalibur" and Walter Hill's "Southern Comfort." Excellent action and photography but don't look for too much in either script.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Hancock County, Mississippi is considering applying to the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, Department of Planning and Policy, for a Small Cities Community Development Block Grant. The State of Mississippi has allocated approximately $20 million that will be made available to cities and counties on a competitive basis to undertake eligible community development activities. These funds must be used for one of the following purposes:

1. To benefit low and moderate income persons; or
2. To aid in the prevention of elimination of slums or blight; or
3. To meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health or welfare of the community where other financial resources are not available to meet such needs.

The activities for which these funds may be used are in the areas of housing, public facilities and services, and economic development. More specific details regarding eligible activities, program requirements, and the rating system will be provided at a public hearing which will be held at Hancock County Courthouse, Main St., Bay St. Louis, Ms on Thursday, April 14, 1983 at 10:00 a.m.

The purpose of this hearing is to obtain citizen input to the development of the application. All interested citizens, agencies and organizations are urged to attend.

ASCS NEWS

DEADLINE EXTENDED

The March 31 sales closing date for Federal crop insurance has been extended 15 days to April 15, according to Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Pearl River and Hancock Counties.

"The deadline was extended because of the heavy sign-up in the Payment-In-Kind program and the short time available for many producers to determine their planting intentions," he said.

The March 31, 1983 final date for completion of Individual Yield Coverage Plan determinations was extended by approximately two months to June 10 for corn and July 15 for grain sorghum. Previously, all yield information needed to be on file at the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation by the sales closing date.

TAX SAVINGS IN THE NICK OF TIME!

SAVE TAX DOLLARS AND PROVIDE FOR YOUR RETIREMENT WITH A HANCOCK BANK IRA!

Even as you read this message, time is ticking away toward April 15. But Hancock Bank has a plan that can help you cut the taxes you'll pay this year and provide for your retirement.

It's the Hancock Bank Individual Retirement Account, and with it, you can earn interest and defer taxes until your retirement. An individual can set aside up to $2,000, and a working couple can set aside up to $4,000... tax free! And you can do this even if you're covered by another pension plan.

Ask your Hancock representative how an easy-to-open IRA can delay tax day. But hurry... time is running out! And don't forget: right now, your IRA can be eligible for 1982 tax benefits.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of funds from an IRA. Also, the Internal Revenue Service imposes a 10% penalty on the amount withdrawn and the amount withdrawn must be included in taxable income.

Bay School District conducting child-find

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District is participating in an ongoing statewide effort to identify, locate, and evaluate children through the age of 21 who are physically, mentally, communicatively and/or emotionally handicapped.

"Early identification of children in need of special educational experiences is most important to each child.

Furthermore, this information gathered from contacts with parents and other agencies will be used to help determine present and future program needs as progress is made toward the goal of providing a free appropriate public education to all handicapped children," said Dr. Brenda Scarifi, district supervisor of special education.

Information which could identify an individual child will be maintained by this agency and will be provided to other agencies only in accordance with the Family Rights and Privacy Act and EHA-B, she added.

"As a parent, you are guaranteed the right to inspect any such information about your child and to challenge its accuracy. Access to this information is forbidden to any unauthorized person without informed consent," Scarifi stated. Questions regarding the collection, maintenance and use of data about a child should be directed to Scarifi by calling 467-1621 or writing to her at 750 Blue Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39320.

Host families needed for French exchange students

Host Families are being sought for 120 students from France who will arrive in Louisiana and Mississippi for a four week stay around mid-July.

The program is sponsored by Nacel Cultural Exchanges, a non-profit organization which has the approval of the French government and is widely supported by French teachers in the United States and English teachers in France.

Participation in the program involves sharing culture and life style with a French student.

The responsibility of the host family is to warmly accept the French student as a member of the family and share everyday activities.

The program provides comprehensive medical, accident and liability insurance, and the individual participants bring their own spending money.

Teenagers of Louisiana and Mississippi host families will have the opportunity to live with a family in France the following summer if they wish.

Students are individually matched to families according to interests, activities, and special requests.

Families are needed to host boys and girls ages 13 to 19. Persons interested in participating in the program should write to the Nacel coordinators for Louisiana and Mississippi: Mr. and Mrs. David Mathews, 36 Lake Drive, Monroe, LA 71203, (318) 343-4990.

USM issues Gulf Park bulletin

The 1983-84 Regional Campus Bulletin for the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast is now available, according to Dr. Louis Elias, director of student services.

"This publication has been developed specifically for USM-Gulf Coast and therefore contains a number of unique features extremely useful to both prospective and currently enrolled students," Elias said.

The 66-page publication has information about each of the USM centers on the Coast: Gulf Park, Keesler, Jackson County and NSTL.

In addition students in the Two plus Two Program or planning to enter USM-Gulf Coast through this program will find every Two-plus Two Program available outlined in the bulletin with courses required at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College and those required by USM to complete the particular degree.

"One of the strong points of the Two plus Two Program has been the amount of available information telling the student exactly what courses are needed from the junior college and those required by USM to complete the particular degree."

has been the amount of available information telling the student exactly what courses are needed from the junior college and those to be taken at USM," Elias said.

In addition to undergraduate information, the bulletin contains complete information about graduate programs available. Included in this information is admission and other information pertinent to graduate school and the advanced degree program.

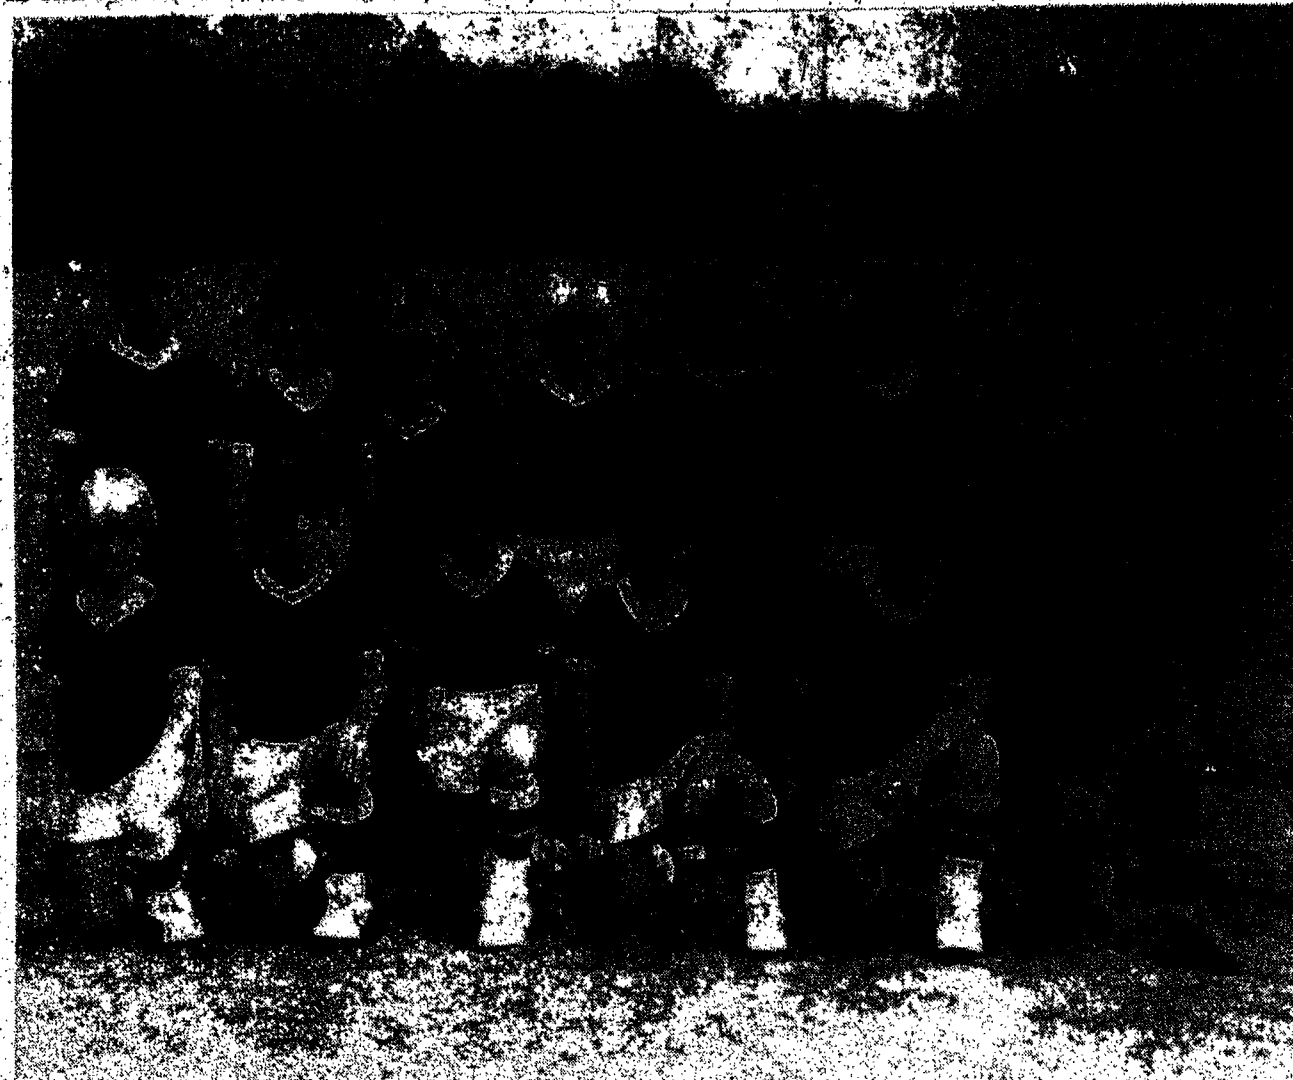

All courses available at USM-Gulf Coast are described in a special part of the bulletin for course descriptions. There are over 700 descriptions of courses available at USM-Gulf Coast in various programs.

"This bulletin is one of the most useful tools we have had for academic program planning and the need to meet a variety of degree and educational needs," Elias said.

A copy of the bulletin is available from any USM office on the Coast. Anyone desiring a copy mailed should call 664-5533 in Harrison County or 467-3333 in Jackson County. Written requests should be sent to the Gulf Park Campus, P.O. Box 1000, Gulf Park, Mississippi 39556.

Wildcats snatch doubleheader from Perk

By the time the dust had settled and the sun had set in Poplarville Saturday afternoon it was the Pearl River College Wildcats who had snatched victory from the jaws of defeat. Not the Gulf Coast Bulldogs.

In another hotly contested game between arch rivals Gulf Coast and Pearl River, it was the PRC Wildcats who came from behind in both games to register 9-8 and 11-9 wins. This time the baseball diamond was the stage for these two junior college powerhouses.

Over the years, these two schools have battled each other to the bitter end.

Already during this school year, Gulf Coast has taken a heart-stopping 17-14 decision in football and a 61-60 breathtaking win in basketball.

But, this Saturday afternoon the heroics belonged to the PRC 'Cats and the smiles to the maroon and gold fans.

The two seven-inning games will go down in the books as another gigantic struggle between the two south Mississippi schools.

For Coach Ned Eades and the Wildcats it was like putting icing on the cake. Already in 1993 the Wildcats have defeated just about everybody, most of the time in an embarrassing style. But to know you're having a super season, wins over Gulf Coast are a must.

For years the Wildcats have been 'whipping boys' for the Bulldogs. That was until Eades entered the picture a year ago. And even then the 'Cats lost their first two games played against Perk. But then things began to change, and Perk knew they were in for a run in the South Division.

On the last day of the season last year the Wildcats took a doubleheader from Gulf Coast to set up a playoff for the divisional title. PRC lost that game, but the seed had been sown by Eades and the new Wildcats.

Eades, who is not known for bragging, kept telling school officials and PRC fans that this was the year to overtake Perk. His warning came true Saturday afternoon, in a script that could not have been better written.

Trailing 8-5 going into the final inning the Wildcats came up with four big runs to nudge the Bulldogs by one. When Tony Lasseter of Jackson came to the plate the Wildcats had cut that lead to 8-7 with a two-run homer by Greg Rogers.

But, now there were two outs and the tying run at first. Lasseter missed one pitch, looked at a couple of balls and then let one go over the left field fence. The Wildcats had won. Victory was snatched away from arch enemy Gulf Coast.

In the second contest, PRC was down 3-0 in the fourth inning when Lasseter's second homer of the day and the first grand slam gave them a 4-3 edge. The very next inning the Bulldogs came back with six runs in the fifth to capture the lead.

Pearl River still did not roll over as the next inning was the 'Cats turn. With the bases loaded, and again two outs, Slammmin' Tony hammered his second grand slam of the game to put the Wildcats back on top for the 11-9 win.

"I'd say every player from Number 1 to 23 played an important role in these games," said a very happy Eades. "We used five pitchers in that second game."

Tracy Stiglets was the winner of record in the first game. Rupert Wood was the winning pitcher in the first outing.

Stiglets is now 3-0, Wood is 3-1.

The Wildcats now sport a 22-7 record and are 4-0 in division. Gulf Coast has a 29-9 overall mark.

The Wildcats will travel to Gulf Coast for the second doubleheader on Tuesday, April 12.

NEWS OF SPORTS

Paraskiing is a relatively new sport that is hitting—literally—ski slopes in some of the most treacherous mountain ranges of the United States.

Paraskiing is an unlikely combination of two sports—skydiving's jumping-for-accuracy and skiing's giant slalom racing. Sometime's called the "bit-and-ski" sport, paraskiing will debut this winter at the Camel Ski Adventure events at 28 ski resorts in the United States.

Jumping out of airplanes flying at 2,500 feet, paraskiers try to hit a 5-centimeter disk in the center of a 5-meter target area.

GCRL contracts to restore striped bass

The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs has received a one-year contract from the National Marine Fisheries Service for a project entitled "Mississippi and Alabama Cooperative Striped Bass Restoration Program."

The contract began Feb. 1, 1983. Total funding to support the program is estimated as $1,500, with the Laboratory to provide $30,500 and the federal government the remainder.

At present, the contract provides $14,473 with the remainder, or $46,527, subject to receipt of the final allocation under PL 89-304 (The Anadromous Fish Conservation Act as amended).

The overall objective of the program is to continue rearing and stocking striped bass (Morone saxatilis), as the laboratory has in past years, in an effort to reestablish the natural populations in Mississippi.

Also, to expand that work on a cooperative basis, working with fisheries personnel at the Claude Pettef Mariculture Center, operated by the State of Alabama in Gulf Shores.

Dr. Thomas D. McIlwain is principal investigator for this program. Larry Nicholson is project leader and Ron Lukens and J.Y. Christmas III, are on the project staff at the Laboratory. In Alabama, those who will work on the program are R. Vernon Minton, John P. Hawke, and Walter M. Tatum.

Early stages of the six-phase study will consist of obtaining striped bass fry from South Carolina this spring and rearing them in a semi-closed culture system on the GCRL campus, in Ocean Springs. When the fish reach approximately 24 millimeters and 0.15 grams in size, they will be transported to the Claude Pettef Mariculture Center for additional rearing.

When the fish are about 20 grams in weight in the fall of 1983, they will be tagged and stocked in equal numbers in Alabama and Mississippi coastal streams.

Mississippi's fish will be stocked in the Biloxi Bay estuarine system.

The remainder of the program will consist of monitoring wild stocks of striped bass (including fish stocked previously) for natural reproduction, survival, and growth rates.

"Reports by local fishermen play a major part in determining the success of this project," Nicholson says. He urges all persons catching striped bass locally to report the date and site plus the weight and length of the fish to the anadromous fishes project personnel at the Laboratory.

The restoration program has been successful in past years in reestablishing a striped bass sport fishery on the coast. Last year, a total of over 703,000 striped bass were stocked in Mississippi coastal streams.

Nesting wood ducks accept man-made habitat

Mississippians who are interested in conservation and wildlife can help increase the number of wood ducks by building and placing nesting boxes in appropriate habitats.

Dr. Ross "Skip" Shelton, a wildlife specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said wood ducks are nesting in Mississippi right now and will continue nesting through June.

"With natural habitats decreasing each year, we are fortunate that these birds will accept man-made nest boxes," he said.

Shelton said about 60 percent of the female woodies that use the boxes return to the same area the following year and many of their offspring also return to the same area.

"In this way a large population of nesting woodies can be built up over a period of time," he said.

The wildlife specialist said suitable nesting sites include farm ponds, streams, creeks, lakes or beaver ponds. He said habitats with low brushy areas provide escape cover and food for young ducklings.

"Do not forget that predator guards are necessary to prevent depredation by snakes and raccoons," Shelton said.

The wildlife specialist said county agents in Mississippi can provide people with information

JSU to induct four gridders into Tiger Hall of Fame

Jackson State University's Eleventh Annual Sports Hall of Fame Banquet and Induction Ceremony will be held Saturday, April 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the General Purpose Room of the Jacob L. Reddix Campus Union.

Four former Tiger football players are scheduled to be inducted during this year's ceremonies. Lem Barney (1967) Alvin Chambliss (1967), Roy Hill (1962) and Beverly Vernon Bishop (1961) will join 37 other former Tiger athletes enshrined in the JSU Sports Hall of Fame.

Former Boston Celtic basketball star Sam Jones will be the guest speaker.

Barney, a defensive back, punter and back-up quarterback for the Tigers, played at JSU from 1963 through 1966.

He holds the Tiger career record for interceptions with 26. His seven interceptions in 1966 is tied for a single season record. His average of 42.5 yards per punt in 1966 is second on the Tigers all-time punting average list.

After Jackson State, Barney enjoyed an outstanding eleven year professional career with the Detroit Lions. In 1977, after ten interceptions (three of which were returned for touchdowns) Barney was named NFL Rookie-of-the-Year. He holds the Lions all-time career record in punt returns and punt return yardage at 143 and 1,312 respectively.

He returned seven interceptions for touchdowns. He was named to the Pro Bowl seven times and was named All-Pro three times.

Hill was one of the most impressive quarterbacks ever to play at Jackson State. In addition to playing football, he also ran track for the Tigers from 1948 through 1952.

Since leaving Jackson State, he has served as teacher-coach at Newton High in Newton and Rowan High in Hattiesburg.

Presently, Hill is serving as the Director of Athletics for Youth, Inc. in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Chambliss was a very versatile athlete at JSU from 1963-67. He lettered in football, basketball and track. He served as captain of the football and basketball teams during his playing career as a Tiger. Presently, Chambliss is an attorney. In 1970, he was a chorage Junior High from 1961 to 1964 and at Rowan Junior High in Jackson from 1964 to 1967. His Anchorage team compiled a 40-5 record under his leadership.

FISHIN' TIPS

from...Tom Mann

THE LATEST CRAZE among expert anglers is the skill called "flipping." Well, most of the younger fishermen think it's new but my daddy and granddaddy did it and it was so common they didn't call it anything, just a part of a day's fishing.

I have done it for years and call it "pitchin'" because that's what I do with a spinning rod. I just reel in the lure and make an underhand pitch to the target, sort of like reel pitch pennies at a law line.

Flipping is different. Here you use a spinning rod and when you reel in the lure you let it hang down at least the length of your rod. You reach up and grab the line just below the first guide on your rod, pull it down to your side, flip the lure toward the target and let go of the line.

Either "flipping" or "pitchin'" is worth practicing until you can drop a lure right on a dinner-plate-size spot. Once you master accuracy then you can drop lures into small holes in brush piles, lily pads, fallen timber, etc. Some days it spells the difference between fish and no fish.

BRER TOM'S CLOSING TIP: When "flipping" or "pitchin'" a compact single-hook lure like a Jelly, Wagglor, Cajun Crawdad, or Swimmin' Grub is easier to cast and will hang less than treble-hook lures. Just keep one "pitchin'" and wigglin'" and watch your catchin' increase.

Crop yield insurance deadline set June 10

Mississippi farmers interested in getting insurance coverage based on their individual farm yields have until June 10 for corn, cotton, and rice, and July 15 for grain sorghum and soybeans to certify yield through the local ASCS office, according to Joan M. McCartney, district director for the Jackson Field Operations Office of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

Applications for crop insurance coverage will be accepted on the basis of the area guarantee if the individual yield certification form is not completed by the sales closing date of April 15, 1983.

"The yield shown on the approved IYC certification form may be entered on the acreage report, which is due June 10 for corn, cotton, and rice, and July 15 for grain sorghum and soybeans," says McCartney.

Farmers should contact their authorized crop insurance agent as soon as possible or visit the local ASCS office to complete yield certification.

Professor notes ways to lessen tax bite

It's seldom too late and it's never too early to think about your taxes.

Small business owners can still take advantage of some deductions, they may have missed to lessen the tax bite on last year's income, said Dr. Dale Flesher, professor of accountancy at The University of Mississippi.

At the same time, he notes that individual taxpayers already should be seriously considering next year's deductions in view of tax law changes that will tighten the requirements for casualty and medical losses.

Dr. Flesher suggests five ways that small business owners may be able to reduce their 1982 tax assessment.

First, he recommends that businesses which make installment sales consider recording those sales for tax purposes in the year they are collected. "Credit sales made late in 1982 can be carried into the next calendar year," said Dr. Flesher. "As long as the sale is recorded as a credit sale in 1982, businessmen can postpone claiming the income until 1983 if they wish."

Secondly, Dr. Flesher notes that businesses can adopt the LIFO method of inventory evaluation. LIFO, which means "last in; first out," allows businesses to assume that the newest inventory on hand, presumably higher in price, can be assumed to be sold first, which results in a lower income for tax purposes.

"If a businessman still hasn't filed his 1982 return, there is still time to adopt the method," said Dr. Flesher. "Generally, in an inflated economy, it will result in lower income taxes. In fact, most companies should have already been using this method, but a lot still aren't."

Thirdly, Dr. Flesher noted a new provision that allows businesses to write off up to $5,000 in new equipment by claiming it immediately as a tax deduction. "It amounts to a quick tax write-off for those who need it," he said. "It means that you can't depreciate that equipment nor do you get an investment credit on the purchase. But some may prefer the immediate benefit of a tax deduction."

A fourth point is that small business owners can take a deduction for contributions to their own Keogh retirement plan provided it was established before Jan. 1. Under this self-funded plan, the owner can provide up to $15,000 a year for his own retirement and take the deduction.

Another tax saver can be an individual retirement account (IRA) which the business owner can establish for himself. "It's not too late to do this for last year's taxes," said Dr. Flesher. "The deadline for setting up the account for a deduction last year is April 15," he noted.

For individual taxpayers, Dr. Flesher recommends particular study of two changes for next year's tax returns.

First, there will be little opportunity to claim deductions for casualty losses. Any uninsured losses must now be more than 10 percent of a taxpayer's annual income instead of the $100 deductible of the past, said Dr. Flesher. The deductible is still in effect, but next year the taxpayer can only claim the amount of loss over the deductible that exceeds 10 percent of his annual adjusted gross income.

Casualty losses are specifically defined as those from accident, theft, natural disaster or shipwreck.

"A lot of people only get excited about taxes when it's time to pay them," said Dr. Flesher. "But it should be a year-round commitment. The number one problem with most taxpayers is a lack of good records."

Corps' Mobile Office reports fresh water fishing prospects

FISHING AT CORPS LAKES

When it comes to fresh water fishing, the lakes and reservoirs in the Corps of Engineers Mobile District offer opportunities for good catches and scenery that ranges from clear mountain lakes in North Georgia to a lake in Mississippi on Okatibbee Creek near Meridian.

Ten Corps lake resource managers contacted recently predicted great fishing for April and May, and one of them said fishing is already so good that "you have to stand behind a tree to bait your hook."

Joseph C. Blackmon Jr., resource manager at Carters Lake in north Georgia, says that from now through late spring and even into early summer the Kentucky spotted bass will be biting and catches go up to eight pounds.

There are also a bevy of types which bite well into the summer months.

A lot of people fish at night for catfish at Carters Lake. There are several launching ramps, but the damsite is the favorite. Blackmon recommends Ridgeway, which is difficult to reach but is at the head of the lake and is in Ridgeway Park which has the national hiking trail.

To reach it you travel Hwy. 282 to Ellijay and continue west about five miles. A sign marks the left turn that leads to Ridgeway.

Blackmon says the road is rough and difficult to get through towing a boat but the fishing and scenery are worth the trouble. This is a deep mountain lake with remarkable wilderness scenery.

Allatoona Resource Manager David G. Grabenstedt says fishing for bass is improving as the weather warms up and will peak along in mid-May. Crappie average one-half to two pounds.

Allatoona is located on the Etowah River, a tributary of the Coosa River, near Cartersville, Ga., and about 30 miles northwest of Atlanta.

To the east, about 35 miles northeast of Atlanta and five miles northwest of the town of Buford is Lake Signy Lanier, the most popular Corps of Engineers lake in the nation.

Lanier's Harvie Jordan predicts a good fishing season there, too. He reports crappie catches should be excellent in April and that white bass will be running in the upper end of the Chestatee River and in the Chattahoochee River.

The bass begin to spawn this month and bass fishing should be excellent, with catches up to seven and eight pounds common.

Moving south along the Chattahoochee River you reach West Point Lake on I-85 halfway between Montgomery and Atlanta. The impoundment is three miles upstream from West Point, Ga., on the Chattahoochee River just off State Highway 29 in Georgia.

The bass begin to spawn this month and bass fishing should be excellent, with catches up to seven and eight pounds common.

Resource Manager Harold Wallace says this should be a peak year for crappie since it's been just about long enough since the impoundment of the lake for the fish to reach that stage.

He expects catches of large mouth and hybrid bass to be good. Hybrids run a pound to a pound and a half and put up a better fight than the large mouth bass.

Hybrids are stocked every couple of years by the Georgia Department of Natural Resources, and Wallace says just recently a 13-1/4 pounder was pulled in, the largest since impoundment in 1974.

"I think ultimately they'll be catching them weighing a little better than 20 pounds," he predicts.

Channel catfish run two to five pound but have been caught up to 15 pounds. There are also bluegill bream.

There are about five or six roaches and tournaments a year, and top weight on large mouth bass at the last one was nine to 10 pounds. The largest to come out of the reservoir was 12 pounds.

"This is probably one of the best fishing areas in the State of Georgia," Wallace claims. He attributes this to the fact that when the lake was impounded a lot of trees tops were left to give the fish a good habitat to spawn and feed in.

Coming on down the Chattahoochee you reach Walter F. George Lake north of Ft. Gaines, Ga., and George W. Andrews Lake 12 miles east of Dothan, Ala.

Erwin Topper, resource manager, predicts a fantastic season for these lakes.

There's a good bass and crappie population and several large mouth bass weighing over 11 pounds have already been taken this spring. This is spawning season and that's the best fishing time, he says.

Also there are now 52 fish attractors in Walter F. George Lake (each made of 50 cedar trees in 15- to 20-foot water) with buoys marking them. The logo is the international symbol, a fish and a hook.

Lake Seminole is located at Jim Woodruff Lock and Dam where the Flint and Chattahoochee Rivers converge. It extends 47 miles up each river, and Angus K. Ghoslon Jr., resource manager, says fishing there is "probably the best in the country."

He said catches of large mouth bass from two to five pounds are common; five to eight pounds are likely; and catches of trophy-size bass are possible.

The lake is located between U.S. Highway 84 on the north and U.S. 90 on the south. Florida State Highway 271 borders the lake on the west side and Georgia State Highway 97 borders it on the east.

Signs on these road give directions to Lake Seminole. High water on the Alabama River Lakes in March slowed up fishing a bit, but Robert M. Creswell, resource manager, says he expects a big influx of bass and crappie and a good season as usual as the water goes down. Commercial fishermen work the river regularly for catfish.

R.E. Woodruff Lake with its parks and boat ramps is becoming popular. Cooter's Pond on Highway 82 across the river from Montgomery is a well-used launching ramp now, because it has opened another whole part of the lake to boat access.

Creswell says he can also recommend good fishing grounds around Swift Creek off Highway 14 near Autaugaмаville.

William Dainally Reservoir at Millers Ferry Lock and Dam is another good spot. Silver Creek and Tallahatchee Creek on the Alabama River below Chattanooga Dam are other good areas for fishing.

Creswell says a recently repaved road has improved access to the best ramp in Montgomery Park near Camden, Ala. State Highway 167, Brandon, Mississippi 39042.

manager for the Black Warrior and Tombigbee Lakes, says "If it's like it was last year, it'll be real good. We should have a good run on bass, bream, crappie and catfish."

He rates as the best spots Coffeyville Lake at Coffeyville, Ala., and accessible from Service Park; the Okatubba Park; Lenior Park, Lock Three West and Lock Two West.

All have boat ramps, and he suggests stopping by the resource office six miles west of Demopolis at the Demopolis Lock and Dam for maps.

Maps also are available at the Holt Resource office near Peterson, Ala., and at tackle, bait and sporting goods shops.

April and May are the best months early in the year with fishing picking up again in September and October.

There's good fishing on Demopolis and Warrior Lakes, Holt Lake and Bankhead Lake, starting in Birmingham and continuing all the way to Coffeyville, Haynes reports.

Okatibbee Lake lies on Okatibbee Creek, in Lauderdale County, Miss., about seven miles northwest of Meridian on State Highway 19. Resource Manager William B. Pennington Jr., predicts that fishing will be good in April and even better in May.

Striped bass are averaging three or four pounds, but have run as large as 20 pound. Crappie fishing is good year-round but best in the spring.

Catches average a pound with some catches reaching three pounds the past few years.

Okatibbee is an outstanding catfishing lake, Pennington says. Channel cats average one-and-a-half to two pounds, and the average flathead runs around 10 pounds.

Among the best kept secrets in the southeast when it comes to pursuing the finny creatures are the recently opened lakes on the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, namely Gainesville, Aliceville and Columbus Lakes. They were recently "discovered" by Outdoor Life Magazine in a special feature article.

Designed to be a fisherman's and duck hunter's paradise from the beginning, they feature well-designed fish attractors, a variety of bottom features and a scientific stocking and management program.

Gainesville, located off Highway 43 north of Demopolis, Ala., was impounded in early 1978 and has been around long enough for the stocking to pay off in good size fish—not to mention catches.

"Fishermen are going crazy" on Aliceville Lake just off Highway 14 near Aliceville, Ala., according to Ron Fuhr of the Corps Ten-Tombigbee Waterway operations area office. Impounded in early '80, it is now in its "boom" period and large takes of fish, especially crappie, are the rule.

Columbus Lake, on the outskirts of Columbus, Miss., is also beginning to boom and this season promises to be fantastic.

It is also one of the easiest Ten-Tombigbee lakes to get to and the opening of the waterway has brought growth to Columbus in one area dear to the angler's heart—abundant bait, tackle and boat stores.

For the travelling fisherman it is possible to stay in one of the modern hotels along U.S. Highway 45 on the north side of Columbus and have a line in the water 10 minutes after leaving your room.

Check your tackle box. You'll need plastic worms in dark colors and probably crank bait for the large mouth bass, minnows and jogs for crappie.

Striped bass go for the white or yellow lures. And as most fishing enthusiasts do, you probably have a secret, never-tell-them-but-you'll-want-to-be-sure-you-take-along-the-fish-bait. The Corps excellent fishing lakes right here in the Southeast United States.

Bacona promotes fishing

Bass fishermen generally raise an eyebrow at their elegant green jon boats. Deer and duck hunters wonder why they bother. But now all those "lowly" bream and crappie fishermen have an organization on their side that plans to rival the fun and promotional efforts of such prestigious groups as B.A.S.S., field trial clubs and thousands of private deer camps.

The organization is called BACONA—Bream and Crappie Organization of North America, Inc. And, according to its Mississippi founders, the group's primary purpose is to promote family fishing.

"We're using slogans like 'family fishing is really living' and 'let's get kids hooked on fishing' to get our point across," said Tad Smith, Jr., a member of the BACONA advisory board of directors. "I'm just a country boy fisherman and I know you don't have to be a professional or spend a ton of money to fish successfully for bream and crappie. Unlike the more elite sports, bream and crappie fishing is more than an excuse to get out with the boys—it's a family pastime."

In keeping with the nature of the sport, Smith says BACONA will keep its requirements low-key and inexpensive. Ten dollars will buy a one-year subscription to the organization's quarterly newsletter. Each issue will feature fishing reports, artificial and live bait fishing tips, boater safety instruction, state fishing regulations and regular columns from sports writers and fishing experts throughout the state.

Minacapelli's to present Neil Simon's 'Chapter Two'

Minacapelli's Dinner Theatre proudly announces its upcoming production of Neil Simon's "Chapter Two" opening at the Slidell establishment April 8 for a six week run through May 15.

Semi-autobiographical in nature, Chapter Two tells the story of a recently widowed author and a recently divorced actress, their lightning-fast courtship, and turbulent leap into married life, and their attempts to accept their new existence together.

A funny, touching play, "Chapter Two" was an award winner on Broadway and reinforced Neil Simon's position as the pre-eminent comedy playwright of this generation. Playing George, the widowed author unwilling to let go of the past is Jim Chimento. No stranger to Minacapelli's, Jim is presently appearing as the radical Perchik in the record breaking "Fiddler on the Roof."

Equally at home in musicals and non-musicals, Chimento delighted audiences as the outrageous Miles Gloriosus in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," and as the mousy Bill in "How the Other Half Loves."

He has also appeared in the title role of "The Rainmaker" at Le Petit, and can be seen on the tube in Dixie Beer and Burger King commercials.

Returning to the Minacapelli stage after her triumphant portrayal of Sarah Brown in last season's smash musical "Guys and Dolls" is Nancy Kearny as Jennie, the actress whose failed marriage to a ner-do-well leaves her leery of marriage and at the same time vulnerable to George.

Along with "Guys and Dolls" at Minacapelli's Kearny has appeared as Marion in "The Music Man" at Kenner Community Theatre, "The Boys From Syracuse" and "Something's Afoot" at Le Petit, "You Can't Take It With You" and "Loreli" at Gallery Circle and the original "Moon Over Montevideo" at NORD.

As Faye, the inveterate matchmaker and romantic, is the delightful Kat Stevenson, who convulsed audiences with her performances in "Natalie Needs a Nightie" and "See How They Run" this past season at Minacapelli's.

She charmed audiences coast-to-coast in "Dames at Sea," "Twelfth Night" and "Gamma Rays."

George's brother, Leo, the lecherous public relations expert is played by Steven Cefalu, another Minacapelli's veteran, who performed in "Move Over Mrs. Markham," "See How They Run," and "The Odd Couple."

He is also active in Slidell Little Theatre and The Rose Dinner Theatre.

Bob Kearney is directing "Chapter Two" with Kris Keller as technical director and stage manager.
